

What Does an Open Position Cost You?

More Than You Think.

You probably know the cost of a new hire and the cost of a bad hire. But do you know the cost of an open position? From product development delays to lower productivity and morale, without the right people you can't realize your full potential. Further, by not filling vacancies quickly, you run the risk of missing out on top candidates.

Devon Consulting understands the repercussions of a vacant position as well as that of a lower quality hire. That's why we offer one of the fastest response rates in the industry for temporary and permanent, IT and scientific personnel. We listen carefully to your needs so you only see candidates that are a good fit, both technically and culturally. Count on us for the right people at the right time.

Discover the Devon Difference.
www.devonconsulting.com
800.229.5709

Devon Consulting. The Right People at the Right Time.

To receive a free article on the cost of a vacant position visit: www.devonconsulting.com/Client/Opening.shtml.